INAUGURAL ADDRESS

OF THE

HON. FREDERICK SMYTH,
MAYOR,

TO THE

CITY COUNCIL OF MANCHESTER:

DELIVERED BEFORE THE TWO BRANCHES IN CONVENTION,
JANUARY 5, 1864.

MAYOR'S ADDRESS.

Gentlemen of the City Council:

Selected by our fellow-citizens to conduct the municipal affairs of this city, for the year this day commencing, and having taken a solemn obligation to devote to that purpose our best endeavors, we cannot now escape the responsibility we have assumed.

I congratulate myself that, on again assuming the duties involved in my position, I am to be associated with so large a number, in each branch of the City Council, who have had experience in the legislation of our city; who not only know what has been done, but what is required, and the most feasible mode to obtain the desired results.

In accordance with the requirements of the city charter and with custom, I shall ask your attention to some of the more important matters that will become subjects of city legislation.

The annual report of the receipts and expenditures of the past year not being completed, I cannot now refer in detail to financial affairs. It is hoped that the report will soon be before you.

I shall not be thought to overstate the case, when I say that no City Council, in the history of our municipal government, now commencing its eighteenth year, has been required to consider and act on questions so momentous as those which will immediately occupy our attention. We are to assume the management of a debt nearly or quite twice as large as that of any previous year, while the state tax is to be doubled.

What shall be done with so great a debt, what necessity there may be for its increase, or what probability of its reduction, what means shall be provided for payment of interest, and whether the burden of taxation can be lightened without public detriment, are questions to be carefully considered. With these large liabilities of city, county, and state, come increased taxes in like proportion. However unwelcome such facts may be, it is better to look them squarely in the face, that we may be the better prepared to meet them. Of the creation of such indebtedness, or whether it was or not in part or in whole properly incurred, we are not called upon now to decide,—we must take matters as we find them.

The limited investigation I have been able to give the subject of the city finances since my election, does not enable me to express at this time any decided opinion in relation to what should be our course of action in this regard. I therefore will only briefly state that, from information obtained from our worthy city Treasurer, I find the indebtedness of the city, on the first day of the present month, to be as follows:

Bonds due, 1893,	$70,000
1888,	35,000
July 1, 1882,	22,500
January 1, 1880,	10,000
Notes due, July 1, 1878,	3,500
Bonds due, July 1, 1877,	22,500
July 1, 1874,	20,000
July 1, 1872,	20,000
Notes due, February 1, 1872,	3,600
Bonds due, January 1, 1871,	6,000
July 1, 1867,	20,000
January 1, 1866,	6,000
Notes due, June 1. 1864,	6,000
May 2, 1864,	2,300
April 13, 1864,	2,100
February 16, 1864,	2,500
February 9, 1864,	10,000
Notes due, on demand,	69,400
Interest due, January 1, 1864,	8,025
Due State of New Hampshire and County of Hillsborough, for taxes of 1863,	27,754
Due on bills approved in Treasurer's hands, not paid,	12,928
	$380,107

The amount of outstanding bills due, I have no means of knowing at the present time, neither can I inform you how much we may receive from the state and general government, or from other sources, or how much the expenses of the city will be from this time until the taxes of the present year can be realized in June. The Treasurer informs me that, in his opinion, we shall be under the necessity of obtaining by loan about forty thousand dollars, to pay the demands on the treasury by the families of soldiers, before any money can be received from the state for that purpose. He is also of the opinion that at least ten thousand dollars in addition must be raised, to pay demands now due, and which may become due, over and above the money he now has on hand and the receipts from all sources from the present time till the new taxes are assessed in June.

From the foregoing it will be seen that we are liable to be called upon to pay sixty-nine thousand and four hundred dollars, the amount of notes due on demand, at any time. Other notes amounting to twenty-two thousand and nine hundred dollars, will mature in the course of five months. It will be noticed also that, by the Treasurer's estimate, fifty thousand dollars more must be raised soon, to meet demands before named, over and above all estimated receipts. I name the subject here, in order that it may be known, as nearly as possible, how we stand at the time we assume office, and also for the purpose of urging your immediate attention to the matter. I have no doubt of our ability to maintain the credit of the city unimpaired.

To confine our debt within manageable limits, and so to control taxation that our men of business and capitalists may not be driven from among us, will require rigid economy in expenditures and discriminating firmness on the part of each member of the City Council, in resisting applications for improvements, which, though desirable, cannot all be effected at once. I do not advocate a parsimonious policy, even in our present financial condition; but a close scrutiny into the wisdom and necessity of every proposed outlay is indispensable to the public welfare.

The power to make appropriations and to expend them, rests exclusively with the City Council, except in cases otherwise provided for by the state and city laws. I do not understand that any standing or special committee of the City Council, or of either board, has authority to expend or control any appropriation, unless specially authorized by a vote of the City Council.

Although the Mayor is by the charter made the chief executive officer of the city, and is required to exercise supervision over the conduct of all subordinate officers, he has no authority to expend money unless authorized by the City Council.

A thorough system of accounts and a rigid accountability should be required of persons having the expenditure of public money. The appropriations should be made large enough for the purpose for which they are designed, and should in no instance be overdrawn without a vote by the proper authority. Every officer and agent disbursing the public money should be held personally accountable for every cent expended in excess of the appropriation. If this system be not well enforced, we shall be under the necessity at the commencement of every year to resort to temporary loans to supply deficiencies of the previous year. These loans will soon become a part of the permanent debt of the city, and thus our debt go on increasing imperceptibly to the authority that permits it to be contracted.

That "the world is governed too much," is a maxim as true as it is old, and which no one conversant with history or experience in human nature will deny. The city records will show that our own law-makers have not escaped the universal temptation. It has been found necessary from time to time to prune and condense the ordinances. In many instances the state laws would have been sufficient for our needs, and in other cases the city law makers have not made themselves familliar with the enactments of the state, with which their work has conflicted. A new revision of our ordinances is necessary at this time, as few persons have ever perused all the laws that encumber our records, or ever will. We should avoid the passage of any law not absolutely required.

Not questioning the ability or judgment of the Assessors of previous years, I desire to call the attention of the present board to the subject of our public taxes, with a view to their more equitable distribution. It is an admitted fact, that property in this city has always been valued at a much higher rate than it has in the aggregate throughout the state. This difference in the valuation would be of no consequence if we were taxed for city purposes only, but inasmuch as on this valuation our share of the state and county tax is based, it is of vast importance to us, the more especially at this time, when this public tax is to be about doubled, or nearly as much as all our tax for municipal purposes, and also as upon the appraisal of this and the last year the apportionment of the public tax of this and the three next years is to be made. The effect of this difference in appraisal may be seen in the last apportionment of the state tax. Manchester's proportion of this tax under that apportionment was seventy-six dollars and eighty-four cents on every thousand dollars raised by the state, or nearly one-thirteenth of all the state tax. Does any one believe that Manchester does or ever did, contain one-thirteenth part of all the property in the state? I am aware that the City Council cannot control this matter, but if our present able board of Assessors can feel it to be their duty to remedy this evil, even in part, my object in alluding to it in this connection will be accomplished.

One of the largest appropriations we are annually called upon to make, is for the support and maintenance of our public Schools; and I am free to say, gentlemen, that it is not here that we should first commence to lessen our appropriations. The expense of our Schools is indeed great, but the expense of a lack of education would be incalculably greater. Every good and true man, patriot and Christian, will desire that our Schools be thorough and efficient in their work. Never before was the impression stronger than now upon the minds of the good and thoughtful, that if this country is to be, as it has been, a government of the people, that the masses must become educated; and to this end that schooling for our children must be as free as possible—so free that all can share it, and the schools so good that none can despise them. To me it is a pleasant thought, that the loyal condition of our New England States is largely attributed to the general intelligence of the citizen—an intelligence as we all know, that comes from our free schools. Considering their immediate pecuniary cost, we have a right to expect much in return. The influence of the competent teacher ought to be felt upon pupils, not only within the walls of the schoolroom, but in society and wherever a scholar goes.

One thing is greatly to be desired in our Schools: the cultivation of a spirit of taste and careful usage of the public property which shall prevent the destruction and defacing of school buildings, fences, trees, &c. On this subject too much cannot be said by parents and teachers.

In an inaugural address to the City Council, March 15, 1853, and again March 24, 1854, I took occasion to recommend the establishment of a free Public Library, the "Manchester Atheneum" having liberally tendered the gift of their valuable library to the city for that purpose, providing the city should maintain and annually enlarge it. It has now been in operation about ten years, and it seems to me, fully justifies the anticipations of its founders, and has proved a powerful auxiliary in the cause of education and morals. I have also had reason to know that it has added to the reputation and character of the city abroad, as a token of wise and liberal legislation.

A more extensive Reading-room, as a place of quiet resort for all who chose to avail themselves of it, was I think one of the original features contemplated by its friends, and I have never looked with pleasure upon a curtailment of this branch of the enterprise. It is not my wish here to suggest an immediate additional outlay of money—the times will not admit of it—but I look forward to a time when our Public Library will assume much more importance than now. It is not extravagant for us to imagine that at some future time we may see not only a free Library of books and extensive Reading-room, but, in connection with the same, paintings and works of art. It is to be hoped that the institution will take so deep a hold upon the hearts of our citizens, that individuals of wealth will consider it an object worthy of endowment, and will desire to have their names associated with it as its benefactors.

All populous communities have found it necessary to protect by organized force, the property and persons of the well disposed from the vicious. We are to expect no reprieve from this necessity, until the Divine law is more fully recognized and obeyed. The expenditure of large sums of money does not always accomplish the desired object. One officer, with a character for strict integrity, courage and perseverance, united with a discriminating judgement and good temper, who is determined in the discharge of duty, is better than any number of men without such qualities. The best evidence of a good officer in this department is the amount of crime he prevents, rather than the number of cases he brings before the Police Court.

An impression prevails that the number of officers in the Police Department of our small city is unnecessarily large, and that the expense of the same might be lessened without public detriment.

Good roads and sidewalks enhance the value of property as well as add to the comfort and convenience of citizens. Notwithstanding the large amount annually appropriated for the purpose, our roads are not always in a desirable condition, as is proved by daily experience and occasional vexatious suits, against the city, for damages. The most eminent civil engineers have made road-building a study, and we should do no less than exercise the utmost care in the appointment of men who have the supervision of the highways. We shall not reach the perfection of those famous old roads, which have borne the peaceful and warlike trains of two thousand years without material repair and amendment; but we ought by skill and care to place our highways in better condition, with less annual expenditure of money.

The paving of Elm street, which for several years has been continued, was not extended last year, although, I am informed, an appropriation was made for that purpose. This improvement of our principal business thoroughfare is, in my opinion, an economical expenditure, and I recommend its continuance the present year, to such an extent as you may think advisable. Should you coincide in this view, an early contract for the stone will be necessary, in order to insure the completion of the work in the proper season. A somewhat extended observation has led me to the opinion that smaller blocks of granite, than those heretofore used for paving, will answer a better purpose. Much care should be exercised in the proper preparation of the streets for paving, in order that the work may be permanent.

Improvements are absolutely demanded in our sidewalks, and the various codsiderations arising from this subject will require much thought. Whether the city shall compell the abutters to build and keep the sidewalk in repair, or in case the work is undertaken by the city, what compensation shall be made to those who have already done their part, we ought speedily to determine. Citizens who notice defects in road or sidewalk, should make it a duty to report the same at once to the proper officer, as much expense and suffering may thus be avoided. Some State law may be required to enable us to exercise the needed control over the subject of sidewalks.

An annual appropriation has been made for several years and paid, for watering Elm street. This outlay, if judiciously expended, is conducive to the comfort of our own citizens and visitors, who mostly congregate on this our business thoroughfare, and the safety of property liable to injury by dust; but for some reason it seems to have had but little efficiency except on rainy days. I would suggest that the object may be better attained by taking the water, necessary for the northerly portion of the street, from the reservoir on Concord square, which might easily be conducted to a cistern in rear of the city stable, and that the teams kept in readiness for the steam Fire Engines be used to distribute the water, always being readily available in case of fire.

The expense of lighting our streets has become quite an item. Some are of the opinion that, for the money we pay, the streets should be better lighted. The lighting and extinguishing the lamps is done by an employee of the Gas Company. Would it not be sounder economy for some officer of the city, whose time may not be fully occupied otherwise, to perform this duty, or provide some means to ascertain that the city has all the light it pays for, especially as complaint is made that the lights are often extinguished before the stipulated time.

A careful survey of the location, capacity and grade of our sewers should be made, and a map of the same preserved. There is reason to believe that this knowledge would have saved considerable needless expense heretofore incurred.

Our public grounds, so indispensable to health and comfort, should receive yearly careful attention, and the improvements, commenced years ago, be continued. Every tree should be protected and preserved, their losses replaced, the fences, grass plots and ponds, kept in good and tasteful condition, and free from every unsightly object. The neatness of the commons has much to do with the health of the city. Means should be taken to secure the purity of the water in our public grounds, by protecting the water courses leading thereto from corrupting deposits. I have reason to believe that the munificent spirit on the part of the Amoskeag Company, which granted so much land for public benefit, is not yet exhausted, and that by consultation with the Agent, who has taken so much interest in beautifying and improving our city, a still larger open space may be secured at some eligible situation for parades and public gatherings.

The only successful weapons to be used against pauperism are industry, temperance and economy. To induce those, who are disposed to rely on the public for support, to practice these virtues, is the duty of every good citizen.

The number, who claim support or aid from the city, is said to be increasing,—not so much from any general increase of pauperism, as from the fact that more such persons, by lapse of time and by taxation, have gained a residence here.

The city farm is a valuable aid in support of the poor and should receive every care and attention to increase its productiveness and render it profitable. The street cleanings, which formerly added so much to its fertility, have not, I am sorry to learn, been at all times used for so good a purpose. The value of these accumulations is very much underrated; with the annual application of these fertilizing substances so easily obtained from the city, our farm may soon be made the most productive in the county. The expense of this cleansing would be much lessened by employing inmates of the House of Correction and the farm teams.

That beautiful and sacred spot, "Valley Cemetery," has been nearly all disposed of, in individual and family lots. With wise forethought, the authorities some years since purchased "Pine Grove Cemetery," a place in many respects suited to the purpose to which it is devoted. It is to be regretted that greater variety in hill and valley does not combine with the other qualifications of the new location, but it is doubtless the best that could be procured. The delightful grove upon it may be much improved by judicious and tasteful pruning. Affection, sentiment, duty and christian piety, all demand of us appropriate care for the place of sepulture.

I am not aware that any particular change is called for in the Fire Department at present. It appears to possess the features desirable,—cheapness and efficiency,—to a very praiseworthy degree. We now have three steamers. These, when in order (as they generally are), afford a better protection than we have ever had before. It is hoped that the fortunate exemption from losses by fire, which we have enjoyed during the past year, will lull neither citizens nor firemen into careless security. Without vigilance, we are liable at any moment to disastrous conflagrations,

The times in which we live teach us the lesson that every community, situated as we are, will be much more likely to remain quiet, orderly and peaceful, if within its own borders and composed of its own citizens, it should have a disciplined volunteer force that can, at very short notice, be made available in case of disturbance of the public peace. The general good order of our city I am pleased to note; and it is not anything in the past, that has occurred in our midst, that occasions this allusion, but a conviction, which I think you, gentlemen, and our citizens share with me, that in the event of any popular commotion—any attempt by designing men to set at defiance the authority of our city or state, we should feel, all of us, more secure if provided with this force. I refer to the subject in order to suggest that, to those volunteer military organizations, which now exist or which may hereafter be formed in our city, you extend such support and encouragement, moral and otherwise, as their importance demands.

We now contribute to the support of two military companies, the "Amoskeag Veterans" and the "National Guard." The first-named, composed of some of our best citizens, is an organization too well known to need comment here. The second is formed of young men, many of whom have seen service and received honorable wounds in the national cause. Although recently organized, it has attained to a state of discipline highly credible to the corps. These companies serve to keep alive the military spirit of our citizens, and ought to be particularly encouraged and fostered.

I learn that the amount now paid by the city each month, as aid to families of volunteers, is about five thousand dollars. There is reason to believe that many have been, and still are receiving this money, who are not properly entitled to it. The committee of the Council, who have had this matter in charge, have labored under many embarassing difficulties, as must their successors. A searching investigation should often be made, to ascertain those promoted, discharged, deceased and deserted, whose families are receiving this aid. It will require constant vigilance to gain this needed information, and most careful discrimination in receiving new applications.

In ordinary times and under ordinary circumstances, I should lay myself liable to the charge of ambitious motives did I allude to the affairs of our nation; but such are the times and such the crisis that not to allude to our country would be unpardonable. In whatever manner we may be called, during the present year, to aid our country, let us all vie with each other in cheerfully doing our duty, ever mindful of the blessings that under God rested upon our fathers, have flowed to us all our lives long, and will descend to posterity if we shall but prove true. I congratulate you, gentlemen, that the present signs are full of hope and encouragement. Each day confirms us in the opinion that the nation is to live, that human bondage in this land is to cease, and that justice and liberty shall here abide.

The faithful performance of a duty as member of the City Council is no pastime. Each, in his appropriate sphere of action, should strive to become acquainted with the duties of his position, and, having learned them, should be resolute in their performance. Ours is a government for all, and all alike are entitled to its benefits. Let it be our aim to be prudent in legislation, cautious in measures adopted for an efficient administration of the law, but firm in maintaining its supremacy.

As I become more fully acquainted with the circumstance and condition of the city, these and other subjects may be more thoroughly treated in some future communication.

Having thus endeavored, in as comprehensive a manner as posible, to bring to your notice matters which will demand early attention, I am aware that I cannot, without charge of indifference or ingratitude, pass in silence the extraordinary unanimity of the vote which has laid on me the responsibilities of this office. Neither have I forgotten the kindness and forbearance of the citizens during the three successive years, when formerly honored with their suffrages. I shall endeavor to express my thanks by such an administration of affairs as shall prove their confidence not misplaced. As we have entered upon our duties with an invocation of the blessing of Divine Providence, let us hope to continue and close them with His approbation.

HENRY R. CHAMBERLIN, TREASURER.

Manchester, January 1, 1864.

FINANCE COMMITTEE'S REPORT.

CITY OF MANCHESTER, JANUARY 2, 1864.

The undersigned, Committee on Finance, in pursuance of the fourteenth section of Chapter Three of the Revised Ordinances, certify that we have examined the foregoing account of Henry R. Chamberlin, City Treasurer, and find the same correctly cast, and all payments and expenditures therein charged against the City properly vouched.

We find that there has been received into the Treasury during the year ending December 31, 1863, including the balance on hand January 1, 1863, the sum of Three Hundred Ninety Thousand Eight Hundred Thirty-Three Dollars Thirty-One Cents ($390,833.31), and that there has been paid from the Treasury, during the same time, the sum of Three Hundred Sixty-Eight Thousand Four Hundred Fifty-Six Dollars Forty-Four Cents ($368,456.44), leaving in the Treasury, January 1, 1864, Eleven Thousand Four Hundred Seventy-Six Dollars Eighty-Seven cents ($11,476.87).

T. T. ABBOT,
} JOINT STANDING COMMITTEE ON FINANCE.

REPORT OF FINANCE COMMITTEE.

A careful analysis of the foregoing account shows that there was paid into the city treasury during the year 1863, including the cash on hand January 1, of that year, and excluding loans and money reimbursed by the state for aid to families of soldiers, the sum of $130,731.09. From this deduct $12,357.74, the amount of unpaid bills for 1862, and also $5,624.35 outstanding bills of the same year but paid in 1863 (including three thousand dollars for jail lot), and there remains a balance of $112,749. as the collected revenue for the ordinary expenses of the city for the year 1863.

There was paid out during the past year, exclusive of the foregoing sums amounting to $17,982.09, and also exclusive of the amount paid on account of the war and the temporary loan, the sum of $82,139.83. To this sum should be added $27,754.86, the amount of the state and county tax still remaining unpaid, making the whole amount of expenditures for city purposes, including the state and county tax, $109,894.69. This sum taken from the one given above as the amount of collected revenue for 1863, leaves a balance of $2,854.31. If to this sum we add $14,474.05, the amount of uncollected taxes for 1863, after deducting five per cent. for loss in collecting, we find that the expenditures for the ordinary purposes of the city for the past year have been less than the revenues by the sum of $17,328.36.

TEMPORARY LOAN.

The amount paid the past year on the temporary loan, including $59,800 due at the close of the preceding year, is $86,500; the amount paid to families of soldiers, $52,877.12; the amount paid to soldiers as bounties, $141,913.52; the whole amount being $281,290.64. To meet this, City Bonds have been sold to the amount of $94,100; amount obtained on notes, $118,200; amount received from the state as reimbursement of "State aid," $47,802.22; the whole amount being $260,102.22. This sum taken from the preceding leaves $21,188.42 as the amount paid in excess of that received. The difficulty of raising the large sum required to pay the soldiers' bounties in the limited time given to fill our quota, rendered it necessary to take the ordinary funds of the city to make up this deficit of $21,188.42, and occasioned, for the time being, the non-payment of the state and county taxes. And yet this non-payment is only in appearance, since the bounties now due from the state and general governments and transferred to the city, is more than sufficient to liquidate the same.

The present amount of the temporary loan, obtained on city notes, is $91,500. If to this sum there be added $21,188.42, the amount before mentioned as taken from the ordinary funds of the city to make up the deficit on account of the war, it will give $112,688.42 as the actual amount of the temporary loan. To pay this there is now due from the state for bounties, $17,500; for interest on $47,802.22 (state aid) from August 1, 1863, to September 29, 1863, $462.08; and from the general government for bounties, $10,850. In addition to these sums, there will be due from the general government for bounties, the sum of $42,000. The next or second installment of $7,000 becomes due March 1, 1864. There will also be due from the state the sum of $34,743.12 as "state aid" advanced by the city from May 1, 1863, to January 1, 1864. These several amounts make a sum total of $105,555.20, leaving a balance of the temporary loan, otherwise to be provided for, amounting to $7,133.21.

THE PERMANENT DEBT.

The permanent debt at the commencement of the year 1863, was $134,100. It has been increased during the year, by the sale of bonds amounting to $35,000, to pay the floating debt which existed at the beginning of the year. The further amount of $70,000 in bonds has been issued to meet the expenses of the war, of which $10,900 still remain in the Treasurer's hands unsold, making the whole amount of the permanent or funded debt, January 1, 1864, $239,100.

The amount paid in bounties to 148 drafted men or their substitutes, is $44,400.

The amount paid for filling our quota on the last call of the President, is $97,513.52, from which deduct $25, refunded on same account by N. Perkins & Co., and also $575, still due from the same, and there remains $96,913.52. This sum divided by 192, the number of men required to fill the quota, gives an average expense per man of $504.75.

TENTH ANNUAL REPORT

OF THE

TRUSTEES OF THE CITY LIBRARY.

The Trustees herewith submit their tenth annual report of the condition of the City Library.

The affairs of the Library for the past year have, as we believe, been conducted in a manner satisfactory to the public and with a due regard to the interests in our charge.

A new Catalogue, including all the books placed in the Library from its commencement to the ninth of April, 1863, which was in course of preparation at the time of the last annual report, has been completed and printed, and contains an index to all the books then in the Library, arranged alphabetically under the name of the Author, the title of the work and the subject of which it treats, with references under each, to the number and shelf on which it may be found.

The publication of this Catalogue, supplies a want long felt by those who have had occasion to use the Library, or to consult the volumes which it contains.

It is proposed to continue the system then introduced, and at the end of each year, to publish a supplement, containing the books added to the Library during the year, arranged substantially in the same manner with such alterations and improvements as experience in the preparation of the Catalogue and the use of the same in the Library shall show to be useful.

The number of volumes added to the Library, as appears by the report of the Librarian, during the year, has been quite large, and they have been selected by the board with reference to the wants of the community and with the purpose of making the Library as complete in all the departments of knowledge as the means at our command will allow.

A considerable number of volumes have been presented to the Library by some of its friends, to whom, on behalf of the City, we respectfully tender our thanks.

A list of the donations so received will be found in the report of the Librarian.

The Trustees have to regret that Mr. Francis B. Eaton, who, from the commencement of the operation of the Library under its present organization, has efficiently and acceptably performed the duties of Librarian for the past nine years, determined to resign his position of Librarian, to take effect on the first of October last. And we feel that we are doing no more than justice to him, when we attribute the present successful position of the Library to the constant care and great interest he has manifested in all matters connected with the administration of its affairs, and it will be a source of congratulation, should we be able to find a successor who will be able to perform the duties of the office in an equally satisfactory manner.

Upon receiving notice of his intended resignation, the Trustees procured the services of Mr. Marshall P. Hall, as Librarian for the time being, who, although laboring under disadvantage by reason of the short time which elapsed between the time of his appointment and the time when he was required to commence the active duties of his position, has been entirely acceptable to the board and gives us reason to believe that the affairs of the Library will suffer no detriment by the change in the officer having its immediate control.

The statement of the condition of the Library, as found by the Librarian at the annual examination just closed, and the report of the Treasurer, show the details of the affairs of the Library and of the expenditure of the funds entrusted to the board.

The Trustees have endeavored to expend the appropriation made by the City for the expenses incident to the Library with due regard to the interests of the City; and are of opinion that by the exercise of strict economy, the expenses for the coming year will not be sensibly augmented, and that but a small increase of the appropriation above that of the last year, will be needed.

While earnestly recommending to the City Council, that through no mistaken views of economy, the usefulness of the Library be suffered to diminish, nor its value to be impaired, we have full confidence that the determination of the amount of the appropriation may safely be left to their judgment and discretion.

In Board of Trustees of the City Library, Jan. 4, 1864.

LIBRARIAN'S REPORT.

Gentlemen of the Board of Trustees:

I respectfully submit the following report of the operation of the City Library for the nine months, ending Sept. 30, 1863, also, for the three months, ending Dec. 31, 1863, and of its present condition.

On the 30th September, thirty-six hundred and fourteen persons had been entitled to take books; one hundred and nineteen names have since been added, making thirty-seven hundred and thirty-three now on the books.

Twenty-three thousand, eight hundred and seven volumes had then been lent, in thirty-four weeks; since that time, ten weeks, seven thousand, eight hundred and eleven have been delivered, making thirty-one thousand, six hundred and eighteen for the year. Since October 1, the average number delivered monthly, has been twenty-six hundred and three; do. weekly, seven hundred and eighty-one; do. daily, one hundred and thirty. At the examination just made, sixteen volumes were missing from the shelves.

The whole number of books, bound volumes and maps now catalogued, is ten thousand, four hundred and twenty; four hundred and thirty-four have been added since October 1, and one thousand and fifty since the last report.

There was cash on hand, Oct. 1, 55; I have received in fines, $1,86; for book lost, 50; and paid for postage, express and other charges, $3,01.

M. P. HALL,
Acting Librarian.

REPORT OF COMMITTEE ON CEMETERIES.

To his Honor the Mayor and City Council of the City of Manchester :

The Committee on Cemeteries beg leave to present their annual report.

VALLEY CEMETERY.

Of all the original lots laid out in this Cemetery, only three remain unsold. Several have been laid out and disposed of during the past year on the slopes of the banks, which now afford the only available place to purchasers.— A few more lots may be located here, but it will require considerable expense by the proprietors to properly grade and fit them up so as to ensure permanence.

The subject of a more fitting and durable entrance-way from Pine street, has been considered by your Committee, and they were only kept from action in the matter by the present inflated price of labor and materials. We would suggest to our successors their early attention to the attainment of so desirable an object.

The accompanying report of our treasurer shows a very satisfactory state of finances.

In view of the want of lots here to supply the demand, your Committee have given more than usual attention to fitting up and beautifying the

PINE GROVE CEMETERY,

And as the foundation of permanent improvements they have commenced the subjugation of the soil. Some six or eight acres, destitute of trees, but covered with shrub oaks and other bushes, have been cleared, plowed and thoroughly grubbed over with the hoe and axe—all of it sowed with rye, and a portion of it seeded down. One hundred and four cords of wood have been cut and sold. In the effect of its removal effort has been made to give as much variety to the scenery as possible.

The entire absence of water here is much to be regretted, but to remedy that defect as far as possible it is hoped that at no distant day a supply will be introduced by artificial means sufficient to feed considerable ponds and for other purposes.

The receipts and expenditures will be exhibited in the city report.

All of which is respectfully submitted.
